Hurricane Impact Protection and Standard Protection

Convenient storm protection with "old south" architectural flair

Our Impact Colonial Shutters are Designed for 140mph+ Conditions

Once installed, our impact colonial shutters become a permanent and durable part of your home. Manufactured from heavy extruded aluminum, they have been engineered to meet the most stringent wind codes in the country including the Florida Building Code's High Velocity Hurricane Zone Protocols (HVHZ). These shutters can be used in Miami-Dade and Monroe Counties.

High-Visibility Impact Colonial Shutters are Designed for wind speeds up to 140mph.

An alternative for homes located in wind zone areas up to 140 mph, our High-Visibility Impact Colonial Shutters provide the same aesthetic features as our Impact Colonial Shutters without the perforated aluminum backing. Manufactured from heavy extruded aluminum, design and mounting features meet the same requirements of the Florida Building Code, International Building Code, and Texas Department of Insurance.

Upgrade and Add to the Charm of Your Home

Standard Colonial Shutters:

Designed for Decorative Applications but manufactured from high-quality extruded aluminum, our standard Colonial Shutters provide architectural enhancement to your property as well as ease of closure in the event of a storm.

Colonial shutters are easy to install on any existing home with simple tools and about 15 minutes of your time. They can be manufactured as single panels or bi-fold panels for larger window openings. All of our Colonial Shutters have a long lasting powder coated finish and are available in many beautiful colors that will match the décor of your building.

Combine Function & Style with Your Impact or Standard Colonial Shutters

Colonial shutters are easy to close in the event of an impending storm or to secure your home when you are away. When closed, you are fully protected against the force of the wind and intruders. Colonial Shutters enhance the look of practically any style window and have a beautiful and durable powder coated finish that comes in a variety of colors. They are a definite choice to consider if you are interested in enhancing your home's "curb appeal" while protecting your property.
