Cost-Effective Protection with Aluminum Storm Panels

Excellent Durability and High Velocity Hurricane Zone Performance

We offer the highest quality storm panels in the industry - custom designed and engineered to each specific opening at your home or business. Our 2" or 2 1/4" profile design has approximately 25% more strength than a flat panel or plywood and has been engineered to meet the most stringent wind codes in the country. They have been reviewed and accepted by the Miami-Dade Product Control Division, Florida Building Code, and International Building Code.

Ease of Installation

Your entire house can be secured in as little as one hour. Our panels are designed to slip into an upper header track and fasten to a lower track with washer-based wing nuts. Tracks are available in white or bronze finish and come in a variety of different types to accommodate your window or door opening. Panels can also be attached directly to the wall without tracks by concrete anchor and stainless steel screws.

Enjoy a Protected View with Clear Protexan Panels

Durable, light-weight protection

Made from extruded polycarbonate, our clear Protexan Storm Panels offer high velocity hurricane zone protection with a view. These panels are extremely lightweight and offer good light transmission. Our Clear Protexan panels are warranted for 10 years against yellowing and breaking and can cover heights of up to 240 inches when used with storm bars.

Did You Know?

Clear Protexan panels are installed in the same way as aluminum panels.

You can intermix aluminum panels and clear Protexan panels within an opening to provide light and visibility.

White Aluminum or Galvanized Steel Panels

Galvanized steel panels, our most cost-effective product, lend themselves well to commercial establishments and provide heavy-duty security where needed.

White aluminum panels offer high velocity hurricane zone protection and easy installation while providing an aesthetically pleasing alternative to mill finish or clear panels.
